

Education and Training Study Guide

Terms to Know:

- accommodations
- accredited
- achievement gap
- alternative assessment
- at risk
- auditory learners
- authoritarian style
- authoritative style
- autonomy
- behaviorism
- Bloom's Taxonomy
- classical conditioning
- classroom management
- classroom procedures
- closed-ended questions
- cognitive development
- collaborative learning
- cooperative learning
- copyright
- course plan
- curriculum
- development
- developmental theories
- dexterity
- differentiated instruction
- educational standards
- Egocentrism
- fine-motor skills
- formative assessment
- gross-motor skills
- growth spurts
- growth theories
- guided practice
- inclusion
- independent practice
- Individualized Education Program (IEP)
- instructional methods
- instructional objectives
- instructional strategies
- instructional technology
- invincibility
- kinesthetic-tactile learners
- learning diversity
- learning styles
- lesson plans
- limited English proficiency (LEP)
- mainstreaming
- metacognition
- morality
- neural connections
- nonverbal cues
- online learning
- open-ended questions
- panel discussions
- permissive style
- physical development
- plagiarism
- postsecondary education
- productive lab
- puberty
- pull-out programs
- reciprocal agreements
- reliability
- resilience
- school-based curriculum
- self-concept
- self-contained classrooms
- self-paced learning
- seriation
- service-learning
- simulations
- social-emotional development
- special education
- summative assessment
- teaching license
- teaching strategies
- transitivity
- uniform instruction
- validity
- visual learners
- visual-motor coordination
- WebQuest

Be Familiar With:

- Differences in concrete, collaborative, abstract, and systematic thinking
- Personal qualities of effective teachers
- Education required to for various teaching levels
- Good classroom management and classroom limits
- Teacher centered learning, learner-centered learning methods
- Educational placement for students with disabilities
- Reflective responses and questioning strategies
- Howard Gardner's theory
- Who has primary control of education and at what levels
- Abilities of children through different ages
- Determining credibility of websites
- Considerations when developing personal behavior management plans